

QUARANTINE WITH YOUR BEST FRIENDS

After going on a wonderful two-month trip with your friends to Guam, you return home to find that you must quarantine yourself and the three people who went with you by order of the Canadian government. Now I know what you might be thinking: this is a wonderful opportunity! However, even friends can become hostile to each other after such a long time spent in a very small space.

Below is the layout of the house you will be staying in.

What three friends/family members went with you?

Your group decides that there will need to be guidelines for the foreseeable future. As leader, please answer the following questions to outline those guidelines.

Where will your group sleep? (In separate rooms? Sleeping bags?)

How will you divide up chores in your household? (Explain who does what)

There is only one bathroom, so will the group have scheduled times to use it?

How will conflicts between people be resolved in your household?

Come up with four house rules that everyone must abide by:

If these rules are broken, will there be punishments? If so, what kind? Will they differ in severity?
