

Welcome delegates to the Guanahani Conference

Over the past few centuries this island, named Big Island by its Indigenous People (the Guanahani Nation), has been settled by Non-Indigenous Peoples from away who have divided up their own communities into various districts. This conference has been called in the hopes of uniting the island under one government to become a new country. Here are the objectives of the conference that each delegation will have to discuss before reaching a consensus with the other regions being represented:

- The location of a capital city that represents the entire island
- The preservation of the Treaty Relationship established between the early settlers and the Guanahani Nation. The critical parts of the relationship are:
  - ✓ The Treaty Relationship was established between the Guanahani Nation and the Crown of the settler nation of origin.
  - ✓ The Settler and Guanahani Nations are equal – one does not control the other
  - ✓ Guanahani Sovereignty must not be compromised
  - ✓ The Guanahani Nation does not recognize borders created by settler governments

- The preservation of your region's settler language and culture
- A national language
- Which district will get the new Walmart?
- A name of your country

Each delegation will come together to discuss which points are negotiable, and which ones must be met in order for your district to enter into a federation.

Delegation Information Sheet

Capital City

The settler Districts of Plymouth (Plymouth), Prince William (Bryan's Fall), Taco (Antaya, York) and Guanahani (Gunga Din) all have established cities. Wales and Genesis could build brand-new cities anywhere in their districts.

National Language

All non-Indigenous folks of each district speak the same language (English) except for Wales who speaks Welsh – the people of Wales are very protective of their language ever since the Great Migration to Wales in 1791. There are some Welsh speakers (10% of their population) in the District of Taco.

Walmart Location

Walmart International wants to open a location in your country. Whichever district is chosen will receive a huge injection of money, as well as a constant source of tax revenue.

Name of your country

This can be any name of your choosing. The Guanahani Nation refer to this island as (in English) "Big Island."

System of Government

Devise a system of government that will be able to unify the island, preserve the Treaty Relationship, as well as preserve each region's non-Indigenous language and culture.

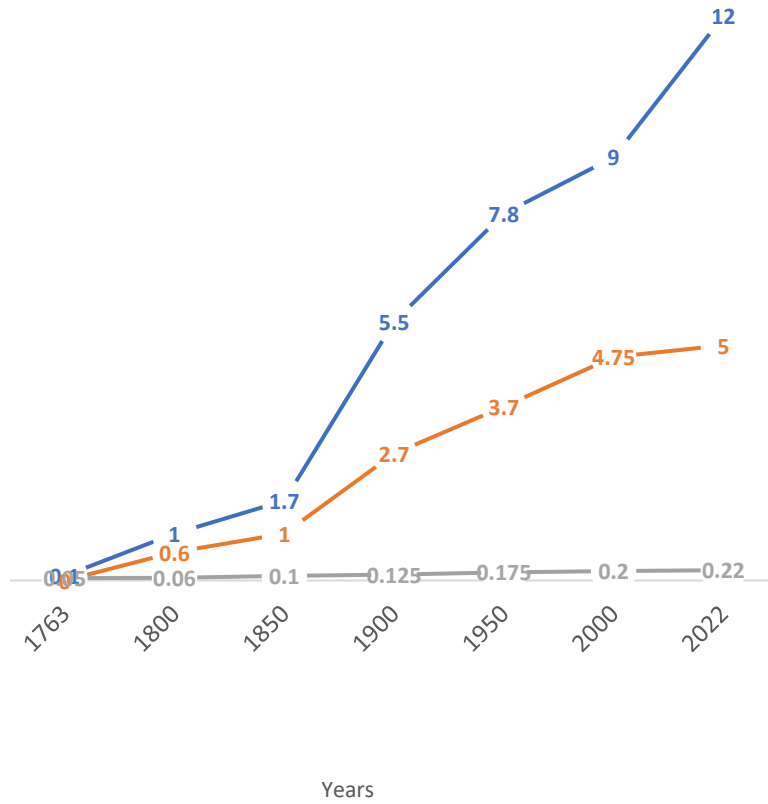

- ❖ Who will be the Head of State?
- ❖ How will representatives be chosen?
